Child Marriage with Son of a Celebrated Dog-Show Man-She Is in London.

bers by Judge Allen. The plaintiff was not present, but was represented by her mother and Attorney Lecklider. Neither was the defendant present, and there was no defense. The plaintiff is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Quigley, of No. 802 North Illinois street. Her father is connected with the Van Camp Hardware Company, Mrs. Lewis, it is stated, is in London, England, where she went within a few months after her marriage. Lewis is living in New York State. His father was once well known as the proprietor of a dog and pony show, and was a pioneer in this sort of entertainment. Miss Quigley and Lewis were married in New York city on Aug. 21, 1895. The bride was but sixteen years of age and her husband was about two years older. As children, they had known each other in Indianapolis, and at the time of the marriage young Lewis was living in New York with his mother. Miss Quigley went East on a visit in the summer of 1895 and met Lewis in New York. Shortly after renewing their acquaintance they were married. The Quigleys did not learn of the marriage until two weeks later, when the young wife wrote to her mother, telling her of it. Within four or five weeks after the marriage, Mrs. Lewis wrote another letter home, in which she expressed a desire to come back to Indianapolis. Her parents sent her money and she returned home. Lewis did not accompany his wife here, but followed within a month or two. They lived together here for a short time, and then made a trip to Chicago, where Lewis hoped to find some occupation. He failed, however, and it was asserted that he then advised his young wife to return to her mother, as neither of them had sufficient funds to live on. Lewis went back East and his young wife saw him no

The suit for divorce was brought by the parents of Mrs. Lewis. After her separation from Lewis she went to England and when the divorce complaint had been prepared it was forwarded to London for the young woman to sign. One paragraph of the complaint charged that the marriage of Lewis and Miss Quigley was the result of a conspiracy on the part of Lewis and his mother. However, no evidence was introduced along this line yesterday. Judge Allen granted the divorce chiefly on the testimony of the girl's mother. The complaint did not ask for the restoration of the young woman's malden

It is said that Mrs. Lewis's sojourn in London is for the purpose of preparing herself for the stage. She is taking a course of instructions in fancy dancing and her friends predict great things for her in this line. When at home the young woman was known as Miss "Dot" Quigley. Dr. Hammond's Assailant Punished. In the Criminal Court yesterday John Smith was fined $5 and sent to jail for thirty days for assault and battery on Dr. George | street. Hammond, a veterinary surgeon. The assault took place on March 26 in front of a boarding house on West Ohio street. Hammond came out of the house and met Smith, who accused him of separating him from his wife. Smith's defense was that he used knife on the doctor when the latter placed his hand in his pocket as if he meant to draw a weapon. Hammond denied that he attempted to draw a pistol. He admitted that he said to Smith that a man who would compel his wife to work out was little better than a brute. Hammond told the court that he had only a boarding-house acquaintance with Mrs. Smith, who waited on the table in the house where he lived. Once he took her driving a short distance, when she was on her way to her brother's

Mrs. Blume Sues Her Former Husband. A case went to trial in Room 1, Superior Court, yesterday, in which a woman is suing her former husband for money advanced to him shortly after their marriage. Mrs. Blume was former-Figures giving the number of inmates of ly the wife of Lewis P. Tansel. After her marriage to him she gave him $300. When she procured a divorce she was not yet of age. At the time the divorce was granted a financial settlement was made and Tansel was to pay his wife a certain sum, which included the amount she had advanced to be embodied in his report at the national him. It is averred by Tansel that this money was paid. The suit is brought on the theory that the woman, being a minor, which will be held at Cincinnati May 17-23. | could not make an agreement which would be legally binding.

> Sue Their Boarding House Keeper. William Fortune and Stephen Van Horn, railroad employes, yesterday began an action for damages in the Superior Court keeper. The plaintiffs boarded with the defendant at 1131 Fletcher avenue, and on March 28 last she had them arrested, they say, on the charge of trying to defraud her. They were arrested on warrants sworn out in Justice of the Peace Hay's Court, but they were granted a change of venue. Van Horn, it is claimed, was tried before Justice Pentacost and was acquitted. The case against Fortune was dismissed by the prosecutor. Each of the plaintiffs de- gan street to Massachusetts avenue.

GIRL CHARGED WITH ARSON. Mrs. Flynn's Boarders Think She Set Fire to Their Dresses.

The fire department was called yesterday morning to 34 South West street. There was a small fire in a rear bedroom on the second floor. Several new dresses and some bedding were burned. The loss was slight, but on account of this fire a servant girl, Mary Cashman, who has for three weeks been working for Mrs. Flynn, keeper of the boarding house at this number, was arrested by Detectives Splan and Wilson and charged Baltimore with arson.

The fire was discovered at a time when Mary and one of the boarders were the only persons in the house. Mrs. Flynn had gone to the grocery. When the fire department arrived Mary was pumping water and the boarder was carrying it up and throwing it on the fire. The chemical soon extinguished the blaze, and then the origin of the fire was cided to allow the Strong law to stand as it | investigated. Yesterday all the new gowns, tobeen taken by some one from hooks on the wall and placed on a rocking chair, after the girls went to work, were burned. In fact, all the clothing they have left is that worn by them to their work. Mrs. Flynn and the young women described Mary Cashman as "mean" and "spiteful," and they think she, denies any connection with or knowledge of the fire until her attention was called to it by the boarder who carried the water up-

THE NEWS RECEIVERSHIP.

Reply Filed in Supreme Court by Mr. Williams's Counsel.

A reply was yesterday filed in the Supreme Court in the appeal of Charles R. Williams and Delavan Smith against William J. Richards, which involves the ownership of the Indianapolis News. The reply is East street, from Market street to Ohio chiefly the statement by the appellee's attorney, Ferdinand Winter, as to his side of

> Mr. Winter deries that it was understood that in all transactions he represented both Mr. Williams and Mr. Smith, and says that he was the attorney for Mr. Williams and that he merely acted for Mr. Smith to object to the service made on him and to the jurisdiction of the court under that service. He says he entered appearance for Mr. Williams by demurrer on April 25, and did not act for Mr. Smith until June 28. He informed Charles W. Smith, who is one of the counsel for Mr. Richards, what he had done. He states that Charles W. Smith knew he was attorney for Mr. Williams. After the decision on the point of jurisdiction of the court, he says Charles W. Smith informed him that he would move for the appointhe did not think there would be any objection to such a motion. The next day, which was June 29 or 30, Charles W. Smith tele-phoned him to come to his office, Mr. Winter says, and have a conference as to the receiver. He states that he went, and Charles W. Smith suggested John H. Holliday as the proper man to be made receiver. In the meantime, Mr. Winter says, he had con-sulted with Mr. Williams but not with Delavan Smith, and Mr. Williams objected to the appointment of Mr. Holliday. He so stated to Charles W. Smith, and then suggested Hilton U. Brown be appointed Charles W. Smith then consulted Mr. Rich ards about this name, and telephoned to Mr. Winter that it would be satisfactory, but asked for a little time in order that he might consult with the court. Mr. Winter says that Charles W. Smith proposed to him the terms of the order and he assented, with one or two slight interlineations with lead pencil, and then Mr. Smith drew the order, says that he did not assume to act for Deiavan Smith in any way during these transactions and did not consult with him or hear from him. He was acting solely for money has been paid out by the receiver has not been on any order of the court or by any order of the court, but it has been in accordance with the business agreement which existed prior to the appointment of the re-

Mr. Winter also filed a brief in opposition to the motion to dismiss the appeal from the decision of the lower court. The brief was on a combination of this point and the merits of the case, but both were from purely legal standpoints. All the papers in the case were taken from the files by the attorneys for Major Richards soon after the brief was filed, and it is expected that the issues will be soon joined.

POOR FARM BUILDINGS.

County Commissioners Call in Several Architects.

The County Commissioners are preparing to make some improvements at the poor farm, and yesterday had a conference with several architects in reference to the plans the board has in view. For a long time the commissioners have been convinced that a serious fire at the poor farm would be a most disastrous happening, as far as the insane few days before had been reported as inmates are concerned. They are all housed stolen. They asked the man to whom the on the top floors of the main building and during a panic that would necessarily reat Lincoln, Neb. Upon looking at the num-ber it was found to be the stolen wheel, and who would not be able to escape. The buildwho would not be able to escape. The building is also overcrowded, there being 260 inmates at the present time. The commissioners propose to erect a twostory structure on the west side of the present building. When this is completed the old building will be remodeled and reduced to a two-story structure. All of the insane inmates will be removed to the new building. When Thomas Rice, colored, was arrested | It will be provided with fire escapes and other modern improvements. The commissioners have not yet decided how much money to expend in a new building, and it was with a view to determining the cost of such a building as is required that the architects were called in yesterday. The board announced yesterday that it desired to have plans from four different architects. These plans are to be ready by Friday, April 7, plans are to be ready by May 7 and on that day they will be submitted to the board.

claims that Otto Krueger, now signed with

Kansas City, first signed with him. Torrey-son will endeavor to hold Krueger to his alleged contract. Manager Erwin reports that he has effected a trade of Farrell, catcher, and Carey, third baseman, of the Senators, for Pitcher McFarland, Catcher Heydom and Third Baseman Cassidy, of the Brooklyns. The Cincinnati Commercial has this to say of Phillips: "Bill Phillips proved once more, yesterday, that he is destined to become one of the Reds' mainstays on the pitcher's slab. His pitching was one of the features of the game. Though Umpire Burns was making things very uncomfortable for Bill in nearly every inning by failing to give him his dues, he never let up, and continued to pitch his best ball. Phillips has as much speed as any one of the Reds' twirlers, and, furthermore, he usually has splendid control. It must also be taken into consideration that it is yet quite early in the season for Bill to be pitching winning ball. He never gets down to his best work until the real hot weather sets in. He will continue to improve, and it is, therefore, easily seen that he will be sure to rank with the other pitchers on the team." Incorporated.
